New Form of Government Dead By Council Vote 3-2

Two New Sewer Districts Presented By Petitioners

Property Owners Protest Assessment Of Charge In Sewer District No. 73

The City Council of the City of Sierra Madre met in regular session Tuesday evening at the hour of 8:00 p.m. with all councilmen present, and city officials in their respective chairs.

District 73

Since this was the hour and place for the hearing and adoption of assessments for Sewer District 73, some 48 out of 160 property owners were present to object to what they thought was excessive and outrageous charges in the construction of the system.

City Engineer Bevington, explained that due to heavy rock in the district, it was found that the cost would far exceed the estimate of $86,000 first made. That the first bids received found the lowest bidder in the vicinity of $103,000, and a second bid was called for after additional soundings were made. Further a second meeting of the property owners was called for in June. Since only five appeared, one in protest and the other four neutral, the Council decided to go ahead with the district as planned. The bid was awarded the low bidder for $119,201.

It was estimated that the cost per front foot would be between $12 and $13, but ended up by being $10.73 per front foot plus the cost of laterals, making the front footage cost in the vicinity of $15.

The actual cost of the district, including all incidental expenses was $126,827.17. After hearing all the protests, both by mail and oral, the Council moved that all protest and objections both written and oral, made or filed in connection with Assessment District 73, be and the same are hereby overruled and denied. Resolution 1964 confirming the assessments was read and adopted.

Exercise Water Moccasin III Drops Civilian Participation

By HENRY V. WITTY

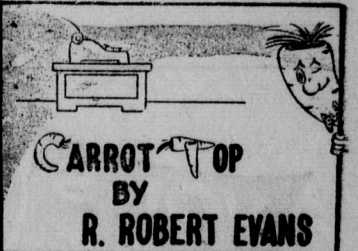

A U.P.I. release appearing in a nearby daily newspaper was headed: "War" sends Rumor Flurry Across U.S.—"The Army's mock guerrilla warfare in the south-east Georgia coastal area has inadvertently offered a good example of how rumors can spread, the Army said yesterday. . . . An Army spokesman today labeled the reports as 'ridiculous' and said that the operation continues as originally planned." The above U.P.I. release appeared Sunday, March 10, 1963.

Headlines in a Savannah newspaper dated March 5, 1963, read: "Role of Civilians in War Games Comes Out." "Fort Stewart—The Army announced Monday that it had called off plans for civilian participation in a guerrilla warfare training exercise because of public protest. The change of plans was reportedly brought about by a large number of letters of protest sent to Georgia Congressmen in Washington concerning the military exercise. The Army said Monday that it had canceled plans for voluntary civilian participation because of a general misunderstanding by the public of the intent of the mock guerrilla warfare operation."

The U.P.I. reporter was the victim of misinformation as the operation did not continue as originally planned. Six days prior to the U.P.I. release, the Army had, on March 4, cancelled its plans for voluntary civilian participation.

The Army stated that civilian participation was canceled because of a general misunderstanding by the public of the intent of the exercise. Please turn to Page 6

I met a very nice fellow the other day at the Security First National Bank, Foothill and Rosemead, Arnold Sundali, he is really interested in the people of Sierra Madre, says he visits our city quite frequently, and marvels at the nice quiet living that is being enjoyed here.

—CT—

While talking to Arnold, and many of his very friendly co-workers, and I swear this story is true . . . a very lovely young stenographer from one of the nearby stores or offices approached the counter and asked to buy some defense savings stamps.

—CT—

The teller asked her what denomination and the young miss promptly replied "Presbyterian!"

—CT—

Having just sharpened my pencil for a few notes, brings to mind the story about the lowly pencil, and here I will tell you more facts about this writing instrument than you will ever need to know.

—CT—

On February 25, began the great week known as "Pencil Week," it was also the 50th anniversary of the 16th amendment to the Constitution which gave Congress the power to "lay and collect taxes" on income from whatever sources derived.

—CT—

Fifty years ago, Americans used two pencils a year, on the average, according to the Lead Pencil Manufacturers Association. Last year we used more than one billion, six hundred million, or about nine per capita. This increase, says the association, is probably due to the fact that we have fewer illiterates . . . and more tax forms to fill out.

—CT—

Until the income tax law was enacted, most pencils were made without erasers. But times have changed, and you know why if you've ever tried to make out your own tax return.

—CT—

And this is a good time to tell you that there's absolutely no lead in a lead pencil.

—CT—

The pencil came, as have so many wonderful inventions, by accident. But this was an accident of nature. In the 1500's, a giant oak tree was uprooted in a hurricane which swept through the town of Borrowdale, England. Where the tree stood, shepherds found a black oily substance which left a black mark on the hands. They used it to mark sheep for identification, for the same reason cattle are branded today.

The oily, black substance was graphite. Two centuries later in the late 1700's a young French chemist named Conte was experimenting with graphite. He mixed it with clay, to give it hardness, baked it in an oven until it was harder still, and placed the resulting sliver of lead between two slats of wood. That's how the modern, woodcased pencil was born.

—CT—

The unfinished woods of yesterday are now shiny and lacquered in many brilliant colors. The pencils contain leads so tough they can write on stone. Others write on glass, movie film, hot steel and meats.

THE MONTH OF MARCH has been a rip-roaring month at Reoss Market, the scene above has been typical from 9 in the morning until 9 in the evening six days a week throughout the month. David Reoss, used only the Sierra Madre News to carry the advertisements for this great 25th anniversary sale, and openly states that the results of new customers, and the increase in business was far beyond his fondest dreams. Although the Anniversary Celebration ends this week end, the sale will continue every day of the week at Reoss Market. Check his advertisements in the Sierra Madre News each week, and look for prize winners in the next issue.

Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team

Two Boys Rescued in Storm Of Intensity; Two-day Search

By BILL WARK

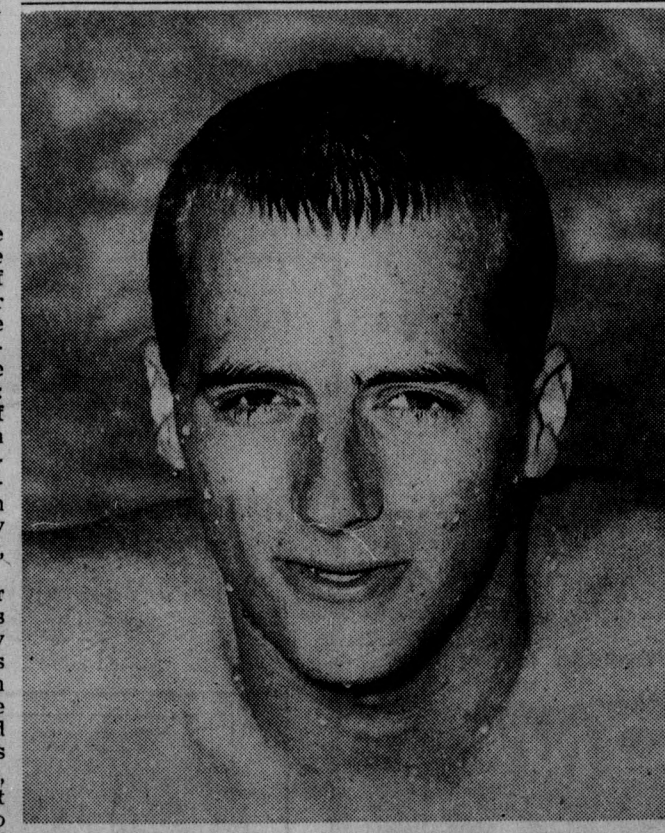

Two boys, missing in the snowy San Jacinto Mountains for two days, were rescued Monday afternoon when a companion made his way to the desert floor and reported their location. It brought to an end a rugged search and rescue effort made by the members of the Riverside, Sierra Madre and Altadena Search and Rescue Teams. For 24 hours they had searched the frozen slopes in the worst storm to hit the 10,804-foot peak this year. Eighteen inches of snow fell, and temperatures dipped to 10 below zero.

John Soman, 19, and Joel Peters, 19, both of 4551 W. 170th Ave., Lawndale, and James Hocker of 1431 S. Burlingame Ave., Los Angeles, parked their car at Humber Park near Idyllwild early Saturday morning and started over the mountains. They intended to hike to Palm Springs and back—a 50-mile hike. On the way up they were caught in a sudden storm, wandered off the trail, and became stranded in Tahquitz Canyon. While his companions huddled in a cave and built a fire in an effort to keep warm, Soman took a 50-foot length of rope and started down the stream.

At 1 p.m. the Sierra Madre Police Department received an emergency call from the Riverside County Sheriff, S. J. Ross, requesting the aid of the Sierra Madre Team. He reported that six inches of snow had fallen, that it was still snowing, and that he feared for the lost boys' safety. The men had spent the morning working on the Mt. Wilson Trail and were returning in a group when the alarm came. Because of the unfavorable weather conditions and the vastness of the terrain, Fred La Lone called in the Altadena Mountaineers, who had often worked with the Sierra Madreans from Kings Canyon to Death Valley. The two teams met the Riverside group at Idyllwild and headed into the mountains.

All night, hampered by icy winds and falling snow, the members of the teams shuffled over the mountainsides in snow shoes furnished by the Riverside County Sheriff.

SETS MORE RECORDS — Pasadena City College swimming ace, Paul Poduska, of Sierra Madre, added another tank record to his collection, by swimming the 200-yard butterfly in 2:29.5 in a meet last week. In addition, he holds school marks in the 200, 220, 440, 500 and 1500-meter event and will defend his title on May 2, 3, 4 when the Lancers compete in the state championships at Bakersfield. He was the school's most valuable performer in swimming last year, and to date, has accumulated the most points on the team. PCC is undefeated in the Western State Conference with only one dual meet left to go. The Lancers host the WSC championship on April 1, 3 and 5.

City Government Revision
recommended action before it became final.
C. The revision would clarify the cooperation between the Administrator and the various city boards and commissions, by stating that the Administrator should furnish to the boards and commissions the services of his office, and attend meetings when requested, but shall have no vote or say in final actions by these groups.
Benefits
The proposed revision would make one person in the city responsible for the over-all administration of all personnel. In the past (the present ordinances were adopted in 1951), with a smaller Police Department and a Police Chief who had been with the City many years, and a completely Volunteer Fire Department, the City Council has had these two departments directly accountable to them.
With the growth in the Police Department of almost 50%, and with a new Police Chief to be appointed by September, 1963, and the retirement of the senior sergeant in the Police Department, and the increased amount of fire equipment now owned by the City, and the advent of a paid fire inspection program for the City, it is increasingly important that all of the personnel and equipment be directly accountable to some individual.

Increased Problems
The City Council, with its increased problems, such as supplemental water supply, new civic center, flood control and many others, cannot be expected to give close departmental supervision.
The whole idea of an administrative officer plan is to make one person directly responsible and accountable to the City Council for the administrative operation of the City. The proposed revision now before the Council will accomplish this purpose.
The first opportunity for discussion, by the Council, on this matter was last Tuesday evening, March 26. The outcome of this discussion will be found on page one of this issue of the News.

Please take note of this valuable information — should you need the address of the Bolivian Consulate, you must call the Chinese Embassy. Now, isn't that fascinating? We're just full of little goodies like that! Emily was feverishly calling all of the South American Consulates in connection with her fabulous Fiesta (this Saturday). Each time she carefully explained she did NOT speak Spanish. Interestingly enough, one gentleman responded in a beautiful FRENCH accent — "Madame, neither do I." He was just visiting his Spanish speaking friend. Also, for your information, we can supply you with a very long and complete list of places where you can NOT obtain 20 by 20 foot wood riser! Can't you just see a Flamenco dancer performing in the sand under the swings? Help!!! At this point, we would say something extremely clever but — — — Mercy!

The San Gabriel Valley Noblettes, are sponsoring a Fashion Show luncheon on Tuesday, April 2, 1963, at the Huntington Sheraton Hotel. The tables will be decorated with tiny hats, carrying out the theme of "Chapeaux et Beaux." The Modelettes, a group made up of members of Noblettes, will model for the show and Vera Rose will be the commentator. Special entertainment will be provided by harpist Karin Bigler. Mrs. Roy McCann is the president of this organization which has been doing charitable work for children for over ten years. Mrs. Richard Young is general chairman for this event.
PRIDE DEPARTMENT — Herb Nikola recently received his Engineering License. Jean, his wife, invited friends to an indoor barbecue in honor of this difficult achievement. Guests arrived from all directions — one drove over 60 miles to help celebrate.

We would like to report another flaming episode in the life of Vonda Stewart. Husband, Bob, was helping young Craig with a little experiment in the kitchen. This project involved the attempted antiquing of a map — giving it the appearance of old parchment. Since this is accomplished with the aid of lemon juice and singeing fire, the process was performed over the stove. Yes, it worked beautifully and entirely too well. Not only did they manage to completely destroy the map, but the kitchen curtains as well. We would like to inject, at this point, that it isn't every day that one sees an antiqued kitchen map, and a singeing fire. The songs were sung once more — the skits were rewritten — improved? — and a late buffet was enjoyed by these tired Thespians. The show was a success — it was a job well done — and now maybe I can talk to Marge (Lily Pons) Rowley again!

Patience and concentration are the prerequisites for Martin Sarley's hobby. He is the National Chess Champion, having won this title at La Jolla University last summer. His award was a beautiful gold and silver chess set which is framed and proudly on display in his home. Playing chess for won several state championships. When he belonged to the New York Chess Club, he defeated two United States Champions, Frank Marshall and Albert Horowitz. He then moved to Delaware and defeated the champion there. His next move was to Salem, Oregon, where he joined the local chess club and organizer a Junior Chess Club for the YMCA. Martin has lived on the hill for ten years and now belongs to the City Terrace Chess Club of Los Angeles. In winning the current championship, he was in competition with over 200 players representing 12 clubs. This is the largest tournament held in California, taking over three months to complete, and is called the Experts' Candidates Tournament. Martin is encouraged by his wife, Fran, and children.

We were glad the rain held off during the delicious breakfast served by the Sierra Madre Community Nursery School Association last Saturday. This was a most successful venture and we hope they'll do it again. Congratulations to Don Benito PTA president elect Vivian Mead. She will be dutifully and conscientiously supported by Betty Buckbaum, Gloria Murison, Sam Kiguchi, Vivian Maass, Elaine Lynam, Norma Lacey, Florence Ross, and Pat Livingston. She will be dutifully and unconsciously assisted by — you guessed it — Marge!

FIESTA DON BENITO will take place this Saturday at the school from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. The Colombian Folk Dancers will give one performance only at noon. Guitarist Don Rios, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luis Rios of Sierra Madre, will entertain throughout the day with Flamenco music. The colorful booths will fly flags from the different Spanish speaking countries. The sixth graders will interpret the Spanish signs for those who do not understand the language.
For the love of Emily, don't miss Fiesta Don Benito — — — Mercy!

2 Boys Rescued
At noon the next day the clouds lifted and a helicopter was brought in on the search. At 4 p.m. word flashed over the walkie-talkies that Soman had amde his way into Palm and reported his friends' location. It had taken him almost two days to reach his destination. He said it was impossible for others to follow, and that he had had to lower himself through icy waterfalls and swim through pools as he made his way down the canyon.
Pilot Jerry Leepers of United Helicopters spotted the two boys stranded near the headwaters of Tahquitz Canyon and flew them out to safety.

Collections received from California drivers' payments of motor vehicle license fees, registration and operator's license fees and related revenues have topped $233.6 million, State Treasurer Bert A. Betts reported today. It is a gain of about 11 per cent over last year's.
As the official depository for such collections, the State Treasurer's Office invests these monies from the time of receipt until they are expended. During the current collection period these investments earned about $82 per day on each million dollars invested.
Motor vehicle license fees are those based on 2 per cent of the market value of vehicles as determined by the State Department of Motor Vehicles. They make up the Motor Vehicle License Fee Fund, and were initiated in lieu of city and county taxation of motor vehicles as personal property.
The Motor Vehicle Fund, on the other hand, is drawn from such sources of registration, weight, transfer, driver's license and caravan fees interest from the Surplus Money Investment Fund and transfers of appropriations from the Motor Vehicle License Fee Fund for the use of the Department.

The PLAZA Shop Talk

By Sewall Clark

HAVE YOU ever done a favor for someone only to find yourself in trouble because of it?

It's especially bad when, in the doing, you see yourself in the role of "Mr. Big." That's me, kiddies. I'm forever referring to the days when I worked at CBS.

TWO INNOCENT looking women asked me last week for tickets to a TV show. From the midwest, they were dewy-eyed in their dream of glamour in Hollywood. I promised nothing except I would try.

Much to my surprise, I did it. Four tickets to the Red Skelton Show (thanks to Keenie at CBS). In most cases you can wait a half a lifetime for a prize like that.

SO WHERE are these two dames from Des Moines? Gone to Mexico, Palm Springs, Las Vegas. My neck was stretching from here to 7800 Beverly Boulevard. Four tickets I've got, as a special favor, but who can use them? Nobody.

I called telephone numbers dusty with age. What did I get? Histories of births, deaths, divorces, legalities and scandal. Everybody was real busy. There wasn't a free soul left in the world who could say: "Hooray, I'm ready!"

GLAMOUR? I dunno. Sometimes, in the patio behind the Plaza Shop, I watch the colors changing on the mountains at sunset, or with clouds at noon, and I think of Trudie, inside doing the work, and I think: "Clark, you're the luckiest guy in the world. You may be a heel, but you know real glamour when you see it."

DO WE sell dresses? Are you kidding? The Plaza Shop has drawn personal visits from some of the top manufacturers within the garment industry. That's a compliment. And I mean: To Trudie.

As for the old saying, "Quality at Low Price," in this case you have to see it. Trudie has "prizes" every day — and I do NOT mean four tickets to a television show.

If you think I'm kidding —

Alpha Delta Pi Day at Races

Western Harness Racing Association stages its biggest Saturday program of the spring meeting at Santa Anita this weekend (March 30), highlighted by two $20,000 events—the Californian Trot and the Spring Maturity Pace.

The Californian Trot may see the 1963 debut of Duke Rodney, who is currently freshening up in Florida.

It Duke Rodney doesn't go in the Californian, the New Zealand ace, Ordeal, will probably draw the favorite's role.

Saturday also will mark Alpha Delta Pi Day at the races, with proceeds from ticket sales going towards the Tujunga Speech and Hearing Foundation Fund.

Everetts Return From Trip East

Captain and Mrs. E. G. (Betty) Everett of 479 Ramona returned to Sierra Madre Tuesday, March 19, after an eight-month trip to the mid-east, Canada and Florida.

They motored into Ottawa and visited old friends, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hart, at Seeley's Bay, Ontario. Mr. and Mrs. Hart are former Sierra Madre residents. They also visited Mrs. Everett's daughter in Belgrade, Florida.

The Everetts, long-time residents of Sierra Madre, have sold their home here and will move May 1 to Boynton Beach, Florida, where they have bought a handsome home at Sky Ranch Estates, located between West Palm Beach and Fort Lauderdale.

Vella Views

By Toni Maurin
SYcamore 7-9634

Imagine, if you can, a feeling of gratitude and relief at leaving the country of your birth, perhaps never more to return. I don't mean leaving as a wealthy tourist with a pocket full of dreams. I mean, having the courage and the opportunity to leave a lifetime of traditions, friends and possessions behind you, so that you might live and think free again without Communist oppression.

This is the story of our Cuban refugees. They come to us with nothing but a small suitcase of clothing, a willingness to start all over again, and appreciation for the opportunity and helping hand that has been extended to them. All over the country they are joining our society and with the same helpless plea: "What can we do to stop the Communists? We must do something!"

You won't see them crying—they won't feel sorry for themselves. They have so much to do. They must earn and learn and one day, perhaps through their own efforts, they will recapture their own country and set it free again. Through them, we, the little people, will help in the fight against Communism, for it is impossible to turn your back on such courage of conviction and such eagerness to fight for freedom!

Mrs. William Nash and Mrs. Neal Batterson joined forces at the Nash home on Mesoloe Lane yesterday to give a miscellaneous bridal shower and luncheon for Joan Deitzel. The house was beautifully decorated with a white wedding bell decor, and Joan received gifts fit for a princess.

In addition to her mother, Mrs. Laurence Deitzel, and her grandmother, Mrs. Eleanor Deitzel, the guests invited were Mrs. John Wilfong and her mother, Mrs. Josephine Lucas, Mrs. John Allin, Mrs. Ward Clark and her daughter, Dee Clark, Mrs. William Covey, Mrs. Karl Deitzel, Mrs. F. Wayne Furstenberger, Mrs. Paul Hamilton, Mrs. Joseph Logsdon, Mrs. Dan Marvosh and her daughter, Diane, Mrs. Ed Meyer, Mrs. Harry Pulas, Mrs. Russel Stuart, Mrs. William Sim and Mrs. John Wills.

Mr. and Mrs. James Smith of Sierra Madre Villa had a unique going away party last Saturday night to honor Dr. and Mrs. Robert Mueller, who flew away today for a 15-day visit to Japan. The theme of the party was to come as your favorite Pacific traveler and, believe me, this prodded the imagination more than you would think. The guests all brought cute gag gifts along to add to the merriment. Those invited were Mr. and Mrs. George Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. John Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. E. Marshall Harris, Dr. and Mrs. Lincoln Wilson, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Paschall Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goldsworthy, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Rode, Mr. and Mrs. Aikman Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hardison, Dr. and Mrs. Cleto Dorsey, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Christianson, Dr. and Mrs. Howard Owen, Mr. and Mrs. Al Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Morgridge, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Whitehead, Mr. and Mrs. George Clark, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Christianson, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Kirst and ourselves.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Slavin and their son, Chip, have come to join our hillites. They have just moved into their newly purchased home at 3320 Calvert Road with a view that is the envy of the area. They no sooner put down their suitcases than they decided they would remodel. Jeanne said this did present a bit of a problem and a bit more of a mess, but it didn't seem to have her too upset! This family needs no introduction to a good many of their former neighbors who preceded them up here, and certainly not to the Hastings Ranch group, where they were active in all sorts of civic functions.

Jeanne is one of the charter members of the Hastings Ranch Guild for Cystic Fibrosis. She belongs to the Delta Gamma Alumnae group and is an active member of the Assistance League of Pasadena. Matt is associated with the United Geophysical Corporation, and hobbywise he is an enthusiastic builder of ham radios. Matter of fact, Jeanne said his equipment was really getting to take up too much space to allow guests to stay in the room designed for same in their former home. He enjoys building and redesigning all of his equipment. More of those little black boxes?

They all are great golfers, but Chip has shown his enthusiasm more than any of the rest of the family. He arises at dawn so that he can get out and have a game before going down to PHS to school.

For all of those interested, there will be a wonderful opportunity to hear the Whittier College A Cappella Choir. They are going to present a program at the Westminster Presbyterian Church on April 3 at 7:30 p.m. There will be a pot-luck dinner prior to the program and the public is invited to that, providing they call the church in advance and make reservations as well as volunteer a dish or plate. The choir is one that is well worth the effort to hear. They have only recently returned from a ten-day tour that took them to San Francisco and all through the bay area. They sang 12 concerts in that time in schools, churches and halls.

One of the members of the choir is our own Nancy Batterson, who is now a sophomore at Whittier College. She is a familiar figure to the young people of our town as she served as recreation director last summer at the Sierra Mesa School.

Girl Scout Council Have Garden Tour

The third and last Spring garden tour of the Pasadena Area Girl Scout Council will be held in the Pasadena - San Marino district Saturday and Sunday, March 30 and 31.

First stop on the tour will be the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moses, 795 Hollywood Road, Pasadena.

Second stop on the tour is the lovely five-acre estate of Mrs. J. Cox Morrill at 1140 Oak Grove Ave., San Marino. This garden reminds one of Old Pasadena with its spacious and sweeping green lawns bordered in an abundance of annuals and perennials.

On down the street for the third stop is the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwin Davis, 1180 Oak Grove.

Fourth stop on the tour is the informal country garden of Mr. and Mrs. Allen D. Ragge at 1201 Virginia Road with spectacular flowering fruit trees and a family pool.

The last stop on this final tour will be the French country garden of Mrs. Baird Marble at 1241 S. Oak Knoll Ave.

Tickets for the final tour of the series will be available at all of the gardens during the 1 to 5 p.m. tour hours, or may be obtained in advance from the Girl Scout office, SY. 5-4271.

All single young adults in Sierra Madre interested in an exchange of ideas are invited to attend. Refreshments and socializing after the discussion.

Eleven students from the Sierra Mesa School attended the Conservation Conference at Woodrow Wilson Junior High School in Pasadena on Saturday morning, March 16. The students were Andrew Clancy, Cathy Forest, Julie Graham, Christine and Debbie Hartwell, David McConnell, Jerry Rasmussen, Cherrie Riggins, Nancy Simons, Jessica Stowell and Kristine Williams.

Susan Agee won a prize for her wildlife verse and Jon Justice received honorable mention for his poster, which were in the exhibit room. They had previously turned in their projects.

Kindergarten teachers from the Pasadena Unified School District visited Mrs. Saline Pascoe's classroom during the afternoon session Monday. Discussion and refreshments followed the observation.

The Woodrow Wilson Junior High School Orchestra, under the direction of Robert Simon, appeared in a concert for Sierra Mesa pupils. The audience was proud to see former students from Sierra Mesa in the group and considered the program outstanding, according to Betty Newman, principal.

At a previous assembly, current Sierra Mesa instrumental pupils, Tom Fleming, George and Jeff Metakovich and George Takahashi, performed as a quartet.

Professor Nasanori Nakano of Kyoto University and the uncle of staff member, Mrs. Ray (Helen) Obazawa, in the United States to observe language laboratories and to attend conferences, was a visitor recently at Sierra Mesa. He will return to the West Coast from the East during the summer.

Wednesday, April 3, the staff will hold a pot-luck dinner at the hillside home of Lenore Batchelor in La Canada. Rumor says the teachers have agreed not to discuss school or report cards, which will be sent home that day, according to Mrs. Gene (Dorothy) Baird, who is in charge.

Wedding Bells Homes Tour Set For April 19 By Alverno Guild

A more beautiful spot than the James A. West home at 1200 Rancho Road, Arcadia, would be difficult to imagine. From the terrace at the rear of the house, one sees the majestic San Gabriel Mountains stretching away as far as the eye can reach, the terrace itself with its bright colored flower beds and beautiful statuary. On each side of the terrace, a curving brick stairway, bordered by cool shade trees, leads to green lawns, mighty oak trees, and shimmering pool spread out invitingly below. And everywhere are azaleas.

At the Mt. Alverno Guild's Wedding Bells Homes Tour to be held April 19, this home will be decorated as if for a wedding party. And in this setting, could anything be more fitting than an outdoor reception?

The tour is being given for the benefit of the Motherhouse of the Sisters of St. Francis, who conduct seven schools and two hospitals in

Tax Cuts vs. Reforms

It is an ancient political axiom that a tax reduction program — almost any tax reduction program — is dear to the heart of elected public officials, particularly those in legislative office and most particularly those in the national Congress. Here is one major legislative area, the reasoning runs, where it is possible to win the gratitude and allegiance of multitudes, while alienating practically none.

Yet President Kennedy's ambitious tax reduction plan became bogged in the Congressional mires from the word go. The reasons why that is so are varied and in some instances opposed. And there's small doubt that discussions of the plan, pro and con, have fallen into the well of oversimplification.

To begin with, the President coupled tax reduction with what, in his mind, is needed tax reform — the closing of certain tax "loopholes." The cuts were to run to $13.5 billion, while the reforms were to pick up $3.5 billion, for a net reduction of $10 billion. But one man's loopholes is another man's necessity, and there was grave doubt as to the Administration proposals in this area. The President has since said that he is willing to abandon the reforms, for the time being, if that is a price of gaining approval for an immediate tax cut. But Congressional minds are pinned on an overhaul of the whole tax system, and many members think that should be step one.

Then, there is the matter of where the emphasis on tax reduction should be laid — that is, to what income groups, and what part of it should be applied to industry. One school, led by the major unions, holds that the bulk should go to the smaller income earners, on the theory that the additional spending power would move at once into the channels of commerce, buying goods and services. The opposition takes the view that increased industrial investment and expansion, a major Administration goal, can only be achieved by a marked lightening of the tax burden now borne by high-income individual and by business. Reconciling these two camps is no simple matter.

A further confusion was recently added. The President said, at first, that the tax program was needed to make a good economy a still better one. Now he says that it is needed as antirecession insurance. Many members of Congress regard these positions as being opposed, and want further enlightenment.

More important is the question of tax and fiscal philosophy. The Administration now offers what is called a "planned deficit." Past deficits, the story goes, resulted from accident or emergency or faulty forecasting — that is, from wars, depressions, recessions, and failure of the economy to reach predicted levels of output. But the proposed planned deficit is exactly what the term implies. Even though it is very large, the argument continues, it need not be dangerous nor inflationary, and, in the long run, by stimulating business and solving the unemployment problem, it will lead to a balance budget. This proposition has found plenty of skeptics both within and without Congress.

Another difficult element is found in the overall tax picture — which is the total take of government, by whatever means. Federal taxes, by way of example, went up substantially this January 1, because of the increase in the Social Security assessment. Every worker and employer feels that, immediately and directly. And it is difficult to find a state, or any other body with the power to tax, that isn't in search of more revenue. It's a case where we can rob Peter to pay Paul.

Finally, great numbers of people, and some of the leading members of Congress, hold that tax reduction is desirable and necessary — but that it must be accompanied by offsetting cuts in nonessential spending. The Administration shows small appetite for this, and the conflict may be the cause of a major show-down. We shall see what we shall see.

Fly Kites Safely!

The Edison Company has published a really worthwhile comic book. It features Bullwinkle Moose and his pal, Rocky the flying squirrel, and its main point is to stress safety rules for flying kites. Here they are — and they are mighty important with spring and summer just around the corner:

Don't cross streets or highways while flying kites. Don't fly a kite with metal in the frame or tail. Don't use tinsel string, wire or any twine with metal in it. Don't fly a kite over television or radio aerials. Don't fly a kite near electric power lines. Don't pull on the string or climb a power pole to loosen a snagged kite. Don't touch fallen electric wires. Don't fly a kite in the rain.

Prentiss, Miss., Headlight: "One of the greatest tragedies of the times is the weakening of the moral fiber of the American people by a government that assumes they do not have the sense or the initiative to do things for themselves..."

Anaheim, Calif., Bulletin: "One hundred per cent employment of all eligible employable persons is a theoretical goal of the federal government. In theory, the goal would seem to have merit but under the program, as being established and fostered by the federal government, through the dictations of the labor unions, it cannot become a reality without the elimination of private enterprise operating under the law of supply and demand."

Freedom At Any Price

by Henry V. Witty

Council on Foreign Relations — sometimes referred to as "The Liberal Establishment" — What is its purpose? Why should every American be made aware of the true facts concerning this powerful group? What is its history?

The first two questions can best be answered by Dan Smoot in his book "Invisible Government" page 6: "The ultimate aim of the Council on Foreign Relations (however well-intentioned its prominent and powerful members may be) is the same as the ultimate aim of international Communism: to create a one world socialist system and make the United States an official part of it."

C.F.R. history is a story of silent aggression against the unalienable rights of the many by the few.

In the same year that Congress delegated the power over currency to the Federal Reserve System, Woodrow Wilson was instrumental in creating the graduated income tax which in turn created Tax Free Foundations and changed our Foreign Policy from Monroe Doctrine to Interventionism. Our present day give away foreign aid program is the price the American taxpayer is paying for this change.

Col. Edward M. House, President Wilson's chief advisor, along with a committee appointed by the President, drew up a charter for world government known as the League of Nations Covenant. They presented this new one world socialist government charter to the Paris Peace Conference. It was not only flatly rejected in Paris but was soundly denounced by the U. S. Senate when it was found out to be nothing more than a socialist plot about to be foisted upon the American people.

This action, however, did not discourage the determined Col. House. He called together a small group of dedicated young intellectuals among whom were John Foster Dulles, Allen Dulles, and Christian A. Herter. This group formed "The Council on Foreign Relations" which was incorporated in 1921.

Dan Smoot, in his report of June 12, 1961, presents a crystal clear picture of the success enjoyed by the C.F.R. in regard to taxes, national debt, and the Soviet Union. He states: "An idea of the overall accomplishment of the Council can be found in its Annual Report for 1958-59. Beginning on page 5 of that report is a speech by Walter H. Mallory, who was retiring after 32 years as Executive Director of the Council. Speaking to the Board of Directors of the Council at a small dinner in his honor on May 21, 1959, Mr. Mallory said: 'When I cast my mind back to 1927, the year that I first joined the Council, it seems short of a miracle that that organization could have taken root in those days. You will remember that the U.S. had decided not to join the League of Nations...'

On the domestic front, the budget was extremely small, taxes were light... and we didn't even recognize the Russians." Mr. Mallory continued: "What could there possibly be for a Council on Foreign Relations to do? Well, there were a few men who did not feel content with that comfortable isolationist climate. They thought the United States had an important role to play in the world and they resolved to try to find out what that role ought to be. Some of those men are present this evening."

Those were Mr. Mallory's exact words. — Yes, these men did change things between 1927 and 1959. As of 1963, our domestic budget is the supporter of a "Welfare State"; private business is being taxed out of existence along with its employees; our national debt is $300 billion; we have recognized the Soviet Union and as a result are faced with the most serious cold war in the history of mankind in which our enemy has already enslaved nearly half of the earth's population.

All of this has come to pass under Council on Foreign Relations guidance of United States foreign policy. These members of the C.F.R. have much to be proud of. They certainly have lined their own pockets, but what have they done to America?

The scope of power encompassed by the Council is best described by Richard H. Rovere, who, in an article appearing in the May, 1962 issue of Esquire entitled "The American Establishment," stated: "It is interesting to observe the workings of the Establishment in presidential politics. As I have pointed out, it rarely fails to get one of its members, or at least one of its allies, into the White House. In fact it generally is able to see to it that both nominees are men acceptable to it."

Again quoting from the June 12, 1961, Dan Smoot Report: "Every American Secretary of State since Cordell Hull (except James Byrnes) has been a member of the Council on Foreign Relations. Practically all of the key 'advisors' to President Roosevelt during his last two administrations, to Presidents Truman and Eisenhower throughout their terms of office, and now to President Kennedy were, or are, members of the Council. Practically every policy-forming job in the State Department (and many in the Treasury, Commerce, Labor, Defense, and Justice Departments) has for years been held by a member of the Council on Foreign Relations."

In 1945, over 40 members of the United States delegation to the organizational meeting of the United Nations were Council members.

The United Nations is the vehicle through which the members of the Council on Foreign Relations intend to see their dream come true—Socialist World Government!

Local Economy Upward Trend

Brisk activity in home-building and real estate sales continued to stimulate Southern California's economic barometer which moved to a new high during February, Mr. A. Sundall, manager of Security First National Bank's Foothill and Rosemead branch, announced this week.

Comparisons indicate that the local economy is currently moving at a level of slightly more than seven per cent over a year ago.

In recent months the upward trend of the building industry has been most evident, particularly that sector of the industry concerned with home-building. In Los Angeles County the 10,702 units authorized represented an increase of 69.6 per cent over January, 1962. This was equivalent to an estimated 121,706,000, a gain of 53.6 per cent over the corresponding year ago period.

In January the Southland accounted for nearly 25 per cent of the nation's home-building.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Toms, long time Sierra Madre residents have returned here after an absence of three years.

Music was the high point, and St. Patrick's Day the motif at the Bethany Church Mariner meeting last week. During dinner a four-piece accordion band performed. Later the Scoville sisters, Marileen and Marjorie, played the marimba. A vocal trio including, Mrs. Dewey Mulholland, Mrs. Clarence Nida and Mrs. Dean Blackwelder sang.

The membership of Sierra Madre Post 297 will march in the American Legion Parade at San Bernardino on Sunday, March 20. After the parade the Legionnaires and their families will be guests of National Orange Show for the day and evening. The Sierra Madre Post will sponsor Lynda Ower, a charming Junior Majorette. ## New Form of Government and 701, respectively being, substandard structures; two houses on one lot; relocating buildings prohibited and the new water rates were given their second reading, adoption and ordered published. Publication should be in the April 4 edition.

Request Denied

Request regarding "one a day" refuse collection was tabled, the decision of the council being that they could at this time operate on "contract." That the company should keep accurate records of "two time collection" areas.

City-Administrative

The City - Administrative form of government was then introduced by Councilman Sorensen, and by motion called for its first reading, this was seconded by Councilman Abernethy with one addition into the Ordinance.

A very lively discussion was then brought forth. The Press firmly believes a misunderstanding of statements between Mayor Vannier and Citizen Joan Curtis brought forth minutes of heated discussion.

The opinion of the citizens discussing this matter was that they did not desire "one man government." It was their desire to allow the people of the city to vote as a whole on any change in the overall operation of City Government. Further it was the feeling of some of those present that a more applicable approach to the various problems facing the city could be had. That since time seemed to be of the essence, that elections would be both delaying and costly, the approach of the City-Administrator form of government was not desired.

Withdrawals

Councilman Abernethy withdrew his second in favor of the arguments and enlightening information brought forth. To further this form of government, Mayor Vannier immediately made the second on the first reading of the Ordinance to change the form of government. On roll call vote the first reading was defeated two to three, and becomes a dead issue, unless introduced again at a future date.

Maps Approved

The tentative tract map for the Huntington Construction Company, for the Huntington Construction Company, for the building of 15 homes on the lower one third of the Lowell Nursery area, and the tentative tract map of the Lilliano subdivision were both approved with the conditions as set forth by the Planning Commission.

Dr. L. M. Hurt of Sierra Madre attended the annual meetings of the Boards of Governors of Farmers and Fire Insurance Exchanges of Farmers Insurance Group at the Los Angeles home office of the insurance organization. Dr. Hurt is a member of both boards.

An interesting highlight of the meeting was a letter to the board secretary from Edward J. Collins Jr., associate executive secretary of the California Veterinary Medical Association, which stated that Dr. Hurt, who has dedicated his life to veterinary medicine, is one of the few to have been awarded a Life Membership in the Association.

Dr. Hurt is a retired Los Angeles County livestock inspector and is past president of the American Veterinary Medical Association.

Special Awards To Cub Pack 377

Two special awards were received by Cub Pack 377 at its March pack meeting at Field School.

The first award was for the window display which recently appeared. The window, which is installed during Boy Scout Week, displayed many of the crafts made by the Cubs during the year. For this window the pack received the top award available—a Class A Certificate of Proficiency.

The second award was presented by Mr. Charles H. Zern, area district commissioner for the Boy Scouts of America. This award was the "Go Round-up" banner which is given to packs that lead in recruiting new boys into the Scouting program. This award was for the 1962-1963 period.

Pack 377 is planning its third out for the year on March 30. The Cubs and their dads will hike in the local mountain area.

All boys interested in becoming Cub Scouts and will be 8 years old by September, 1963, are asked to be our guests at our April 19 pack meeting. A special program has been planned for the parents and boys interested in "Cubbing." The April pack meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Field School Auditorium.

A special Coffee Hour will be held in May to set up dens for fall. Please call or attend the April pack meeting if your boy is interested. (Mrs. Elliker, SYcamore 2-7860).

Social Italian Organist

Luigi Tagliavini, organist, harpsichordist and musician, will play an organ recital on the new 84-rank Schlicker organ at All Saints Episcopal Church, 132 N. Euclid, Pasadena, on Friday, March 29, at 8:15 p.m. This concert, presented by the American Guild of Organists, Pasadena and Valley welfare of the people. The government here is similar to ours. The success of the British in this undertaking is evidenced in that the homes are modern, the universities flourishing, and the populace is very obviously enjoying a high standard of living.

The Land of the Orange Poinsettias — Krugar Park Area, South Africa, is a land of thatched roof mud huts, abundant wild life and verdant foliage. On his tour through this well-known wild life preserve, Mr. Burnett drove a Zodiac, similar to our Ford Falcon. Holding an International Driver's License, Roy was able to chauffeur himself in most places. Can you imagine your self face to face with a live wild lion, or a huge elephant, and being able to prove it with pictures? Before taking his side trip through the park, Roy visited the site of the Goddard Space Flight Antenna and Tracking Station near Johannesburg.

A sojourn in South Africa would not be complete without a side trip to the gold mines. In this case the mines were Dutch owned and operated. Mr. Burnett was outfitted with a helmet and steel-toed safety shoes for his 12,000-foot trek down and through the gold mine. To have several fatalities and more amputees is not unusual in a day. Transportation in and out of the mine is provided by a mile-long cable run by a huge 7,000-horsepower motor. One mine had 6,000 laborers daily. The mines provide a poor grade of ore, but because of cheap labor, this is a profitable business. The natives are paid very little and are housed in compounds, which isolate them from their families and the rest of the world. Because there are many tribes involved and they fight among themselves, these people are not even allowed utensils to eat with. The reason for this is obvious—they would make weapons out of them. The mining company provides different attire for each tribe, and on Sunday mornings they perform their ritualistic dances, accompanying themselves with hand-made harmless instruments, such as bamboo xylophones.

The city of Cairo, Egypt, was the last large one to be visited on this world trip. The "Land of the Pharaohs" came as a bit of a shock to our sight-seer, in that there were modern cars and mule-hauled carts moving together in the streets. The parking lots were interesting, also. There would be tents intermingled with parked vehicles. These belonged to the produce farmers who would sell their wares, such as watermelons, dates, cotton and corn. In the shadow of the great Pyramids one spies the incongruous presence of a modern Coke machine. The Pyramids are 4,000 years old and still retain much of the surface plaster used in their original construction. It was necessary for the Pharaoh to start construction in his early youth, because the rock could be brought in only when the Nile was at high tide. However, the Sphinx was carved out of a huge rock formation where it stands. White gowns and turbans were the dress of the day for the men in this area.

Roy Burnett visited the world with an open mind, but came home with the sure knowledge and firm conviction that nowhere on earth is life as good as in the United States of America!

Activities Plays Recital

Districts Chapter, will be open to the public. This will be a rare opportunity to hear a noted organist perform on an outstanding instrument.

Mr. Tagliavini will present a Master Class on Saturday, March 30, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in John Alden Hall of the First Congregational Church, Walnut St. at Los Robles Ave., Pasadena. Mr. Tagliavini will demonstrate organ technique, registration, improvisation and the contribution of the Italian and French schools of church music.

For further information concerning the Master Class, call the First Congregational Church, SYcamore 5-0696.

WCTU Meeting Meets March 21 In Local Home

The Harter Woman's Christian Temperance Union held their regular March meeting at 2 p.m., Thursday, March 21, at the home of Mrs. H. A. Thew, 70 Windsor Lane. Women interested in legislation toward solving alcoholic problems were invited to be present.

Mrs. John Buchanan, the treasurer of the Union, is recuperating from surgery at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edith Pease, in Camarillo. Mrs. Thew visited Mrs. Buchanan briefly on Monday. She will remain with her daughter for several weeks yet before returning to Sierra Madre.

Mrs. Nelle Vieira also has been confined by illness since November but hopes to be able very shortly to meet her usual appointments and was welcomed at this meeting.

Anoakia School Holds 23rd Annual Invitational Tennis Tournament

Tea, crumpets and tennis will be the weekend fare for Anoakia School's 23rd Invitational Tennis Tournament March 29, 30 and 31. The tennis competitions will be played at the school's beautiful oak covered grounds of the former Anita Baldwin estate and surrounding private courts.

Invitations for the event sponsored by the Father's Club have been extended to the following schools in the Pasadena area: Westridge, Mayfield and Mayfield Junior School, Polytechnic, Flintridge Sacred Heart Academy, Ramona Convent, Alverno Heights, Los Angeles schools include Westlake, Marlborough, St. Monica High School for Girls, Marymount and Marymount Junior School, Immaculate Heart, Chadwick, St. Mary's Academy.

Senior Citizens Have Weekly Meet

The Sierra Madre Senior Citizens held their weekly meeting at the Parkhouse, March 23. After sandwiches and coffee, a short business meeting Rev. Karl Beilstein accompanied by his wife gave six tenor solos.

Mrs. Clinton Symonds, program chairman, conducted a Correct English Usage Test, and all the members willingly took part and scored high. Then followed a spelling contest and password. Bridge, canasta, easy eights and anagrams rounded out the afternoon.

Saturday, March 30, the "Folk Singers" will entertain followed by a skit by the Monrovia League of Women Voters.

Parent-Daughter Potluck By Troop 512

Feasting and fun were the keynote last Friday evening, March 22, when Girl Scouts of Troop 512, with their parents, met at the Parkhouse for a potluck supper.

A serious note was added when, during a special ceremony, Margaret Hahn, Cathy Rambeau, Kathy Woodley and Debbie Kuntz were invested into the troop, bringing its official total number to 25. Mrs. Edward Verreaux, the troop's new leader, was also presented with a membership pin by Mrs. Claude Brown, who conducted the investiture.

The evening was highlighted by a "thank-you-and farewell" gift from the girls to the Troop chairman, Mrs. Harold Dewdney, who with her husband and family will be leaving for a five-year stay in Australia.

Scouts Mary Ames, Susan Oldham, Christine Redman and Carlin Verreaux presented an amusing skit on the joys of scouting and its many activities after which "proficiency badges" were presented to those parents who had helped effect troop activities so far this year (some of the parents needed badge sashes for their numerous awards). Other parents are "working" on their badges.

Baha'u'llah

"The Saviour of All Mankind"

David Ryhs Williams, in a book entitled "World Religions and the Hope for Peace," writes: "Baha'u'llah, in the judgment of many, possessed the tenderness of St. Francis, the courage of Socrates, the meekness of Moses, the sanity of Confucius, the missionary vigor of Mohammed, the moral majesty of Isaiah, the compassion of Buddha, and the saintliness of Jesus. Today several millions of people throughout the world hail this person as the Hope of World Peace and the Saviour of all Mankind."—Beacon Press.

Around-The-World Slides Enjoyed By Many

By EMILY MORZOV and MARGE ROWLEY

Mr. Roy Burnett, representative of the National Aeronautic Space Administration, and Engineering Specialist at Jet Propulsion Laboratory, recently invited friends and simply CROSS and underneath showed a pair of walking legs. A sign with a slash line (/) means DO NOT PARK! These signs all are in yellow with the writing and pictures all in black. This method of sign language for aiding drivers and pedestrians is used almost everywhere but in the states. Although Australia is approximately the same size as the United States, it has about the same population as New York City (8 1/2 million people). The Aussies are friendly and extremely sports-minded. On holidays such as the Queen's Birthday (like our Fourth of July), the entire populace would seem to be involved in such sports as bowling on the green, rugby, soccer, tennis and water sports. Yes, they play golf, too. There is a profusion of red tile roofs. There are five different train lines which complicate shipping—the main reason for the difficulty being that each line has a different width track, and cargo must be switched from one train to another en route.

Perhaps the most exciting stop was Parks, 200 miles west of Sydney. It is here that the 210-foot antenna is used. This vital plant was built by the Germans two years ago at a cost of four and a half million dollars. It is unique because it reads radio frequencies and signal strengths of planets. It can cover within 30% of the earth's surface and is of significance to us because we soon will have its counterpart in the States. However, ours will be used for deep space satellite tracking.

Passing over extremely dry and eroded country, Roy arrived in Adelaide. While there it rained every day, thus making the ground like sticky clay. Because of the shortage of water, many of the buildings have corrugated metal roofs to facilitate the conservation of rain. The power poles in Australia are made of concrete because there is a lack of wood. Mr. Burnett was loaned a Holden for transportation. This is a Chevrolet which has been assembled by the Australians. We have three antenna installations around the world—one in Woomera, Australia; one in Johannesburg, South Africa; and, two at Goldstone, California. These antennae are all 85 feet across and are part of our Mercury Project. We also have 14 tracking stations around the world. These have their own generators, as they dare not depend on commercial power.

The base at the Woomera Military Reservation gets its water from 405 miles away. In this desolate area, tourists often are fooled by what appears to be a beautiful lake, but closer inspection proves it to be a large salt bed and perfectly dry.

Our traveler took many beautiful first-hand pictures of animals. Perhaps the most fascinating was a dark blue and white bird with a touch of red called an EMU, a word dearly loved by cross-word puzzle buffs. Among other unusual sights are 8-to-10-foot high ant hills. The name Woomera is derived from the word Woomer, which is a spear thrower used by the Aborigines and similar in shape to the boomerang.

On to the west side and Perth, where the good citizens saluted our astronauts by illuminating their city. From there, on to Singapore, Beirut and Bangkok. All three of these cities were poverty stricken and unpleasantly odiferous. Looking out his hotel window in Bangkok, Roy saw what he thought was a canal, but he soon learned that it was an open sewer. In several cities he contacted the local university and retained a bilingual guide. Because of the overcrowded poor conditions (in Bangkok), a large part of the population lives in small, metal-covered boats, and use the river water for everything. There was a woman washing her clothes. Still another was getting a pitcher of water. The floating market of Bangkok is naught but a mass of small flat boats filled with coconuts, rice, onions, flowers, squash and raw meat uncovered and crawling with flies. This whole area gives off a terrible stench, and because of these deplorable conditions, life expectancy is extremely short. The shore line is dotted here and there with coffin shops which are obviously prospering. There are no burials—cremation is the method used in Bangkok.

Once a year the King takes a tour down the river in the Royal Barge. Consisting of three boats, including guard and escort for the King, the flotilla represents the opulent state enjoyed by royalty. All of the boats are encrusted with gold, even the handles on the oars, and are heavily inset with precious stones—rubies, diamonds, pearls, emeralds and sapphires!

The area is populated by 200,000 people and supports 400 temples. These, in contrast to the rest of the city, are immaculately clean and elaborately jeweled. The Buddhist temples themselves are primarily the objects of worship and the spires on top are believed to keep evil spirits away. The Royal Temple is enclosed by a fence, and is available only to the Royal Family. Here stand the Emerald Buddha, a figure carved out of one huge emerald adorned by a large ruby in the center of the forehead. This Buddha is dressed four times a year, seasonally, by the King of Thailand (old Siam). Some Burmese influence is reflected throughout Bangkok. The other and most impressive Buddha in the kingdom is the great "Golden Buddha" which weighs five and a half tons and is pure gold. This statue had been buried for several centuries and only recently has been returned to its pedestal. When the people are restless, the King finances a new temple which pleases the populace and seems to solve the current problem.

Istanbul, Turkey, is next on our world tour. Coca-Cola, Shell and Mobilgas were noted to have been in evidence in every country our traveler visited. By way of contrast, Turkey is a country of isolated villages here only footpaths indicate any contact at all with the outside world. This is Moslem country. Moslem temples, or Mosques, often feature minarets (spires) and parapets. One of the most unique is the Saint Sophia Mosque, built by the Greeks in the 14th Century, and seized by the Turks at the end of World War I. This edifice is now a museum and has the added interest of lighting fixtures which rise from the floor. Perhaps the other outstanding Mosque is the Blue Mosque which was built in the 16th Century. Among the unusual features of this temple are the windows in the dome, the four supporting columns which came from Athens, and the central courtyard. No one enters a Mosque wearing shoes.

Istanbul is a city of very narrow streets in which the pedestrian always has the right of way. There are many cars of American make and for once the cars moved on the right side of the street. Built in the 17th Century as protection against the Russians, the old stone wall is still in good repair around the area.

Turkey, whose flag bears a strong resemblance to that of Russia, in that it features a star and crescent, nevertheless is a democracy with an elected government. Copper is a much-used metal—evidence of which was a picture of a restaurant with a copper roof.

There are four universities in Istanbul in which the United States shows great interest and which have many American teachers. Upon disembarking at the airport in Rome, Roy found himself in the midst of one of their exciting and unpredictable citywide elections. The buildings were covered with banners of the different candidates. The Communists are not really strong in Rome; however, they manage to come in second in this election. Old Rome is in the center of the city. The former Mussolini regime was quartered in a dingy building which is now in even worse repair.

Although there have been many pictures and descriptions of the 2,000-year-old Coliseum with its marble seats, it proved to be a memorable sight for our voyager. The Library of Rome still stands after 2,300 years.

In ancient days, the Romans had their class distinctions even in the bath houses. There were three floors, the top being reserved for the elite—the second floor on which the middle-class used the water which flowed down from the top floor—and the third floor serviced the remaining classes with the water drained from the other two floors. Another sight along the tour was a wall of statues, the only tribute remaining to the Vestal Virgins. The Partheon, another architectural phenomenon of early Rome, is now a museum.

One of the more humorous observations made by our excursionist was that St. Peter's Square is round! Though this is the home of Vatican City, only 40% of the population is Catholic. This city is self-governed. On special religious holidays, a Swiss Guard dressed in an enriched Italian Byzantine attire, impressive in reds, golds, blues and yellows, marches through the streets—to the delight of all. One of the last inspiring sights Roy saw before leaving Rome and Italy was Michaelangelo's Statue of Moses.

Many homes in Johannesburg are in the midst of orange, grapefruit and banana trees. This modern city seems almost out of place as the area surrounding it represents the ancient way of life which is predominant in this country. Here there is a tremendous class distinction between the British, the Dutch and the natives. Here also would seem to stand the Old Africa and the New, side by side, but never intermixing. Pretoria is the capital of South Africa. A monument to the old way of life stands in the center of this modern metropolis. In contrast to Johannesburg, the capital is a city of little or no class distinction. The British, recognizing the fact that there are 20 natives to one of them, have made every effort to educate and promote the

Lesson-Sermon Sun., Mar. 31 Sierra Madre

Freedom from materiality, bondage of any sort, will be emphasized at Christian Science church services Sunday.

Highlighting the Scriptural selections from the Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Reality" will be this passage: "The night is far spent, the day is at hand; let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light" (Rom. 13:12).

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this citation will be read: "Perfection underlies reality. Without perfection, nothing is wholly real. All things will continue to disappear, until perfection appears and reality is reached" (p. 353).

PRAYER RETREAT
The Women's Fellowship of the Congregational Church will conduct a Prayer Retreat from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Tuesday, April 2. This Lenten service with the theme, "Behold, I Stand at the Door and Knock," will be led by Mrs. Joseph Moran and Mrs. O. L. Cline.

This cancels the usual monthly luncheon, but the women are invited to bring sandwiches and coffee will be served.

A baby-sitter will be provided.

Bethany Church Notes

Bethany Church of Sierra Madre completed its monthly emphasis on the recent "March to Sunday School in March" Crusade.

John Kershaw, general superintendent of the Sunday school reports that the national interest in Sunday school has served to focus the local attention on this most worthy institution. Bethany is joining in with thousands of other churches throughout the country in emphasizing the Sunday school during the month of March.

Robert N. Schaper, pastor of Bethany returned last Saturday from a youth camp west of Malibu where he spoke to young people from Crenshaw Community Church of West Los Angeles. The pastor of that church is the Rev. George Lau, who attended Bethany while attending Fuller Seminary.

The high school Christian Endeavor executive and their sponsors will spend this Saturday in study and prayer at the Howard Riddle beach house in Newport. The executive consists of president, Ron Kershaw; Pat and Pam Wilhite, Dolly Loggren, Bill Treder, Rosalie Nelson, Susie Obazawa and Margie Schaper. Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Richter, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schulman. They will return on Saturday evening.

Film Lecturer Returns To S.M.

On March 21, Mr. and Mrs. Don Parker, of 193 Oak Meadow Road, and their daughter, Elise Parker, flew back from the Hawaiian Islands after a combined business and vacation trip. Mrs. Parker gave 28 "Norway" film lectures in four of the islands in 15 days. This was sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Honolulu.

While in Hilo, Mrs. Parker had a call from a former Sierra Madrean, Mrs. Arthur Draeger, who now lives in Kona.

Frustrated? Asks Rev. Ray Hansen

"Frustrated" is the sermon of the Rev. Ray E. Hansen at 10:10 a.m. Passion Sunday services at Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church. The message is based on Christ being misunderstood by His listeners, John 8:46-53, and how His way of handling the situation shows modern man how to deal with His frustrations.

This will be the final Sunday service of this congregation in the Sierra Madre Masonic Temple. On the next Sunday, April 7, the first church service in the new building at 7 W. Foothill Blvd. in Arcadia will take place.

At the 7:30 p.m. Wednesday service in the Masonic Temple on April 3, the Rev. Rudolph Bloomquist of Bethlehem Lutheran Church, Temple City, will speak on "Peter," the strong man of Christ who weakens.

Ascension Tidings

St. Anne's Altar Guild of the Church of the Ascension will be sponsoring the Coffee Hour this coming Sunday, March 31, following the 10:30 a.m. Mass.

New altar linens, purchased with the proceeds from the Shrove Tuesday Pancake Supper, will be on display. Of particular interest is the new festival sets of Corporals and Palls. These are embroidered sets, each depicting one of the major feasts of the Church. Directress for the Altar Guild is Mrs. Kenneth Rickard.

Stations of the Cross will continue to be held on Monday mornings at 9 a.m. and on Friday evenings at 7:45 p.m.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament follows the Friday evening Stations. Holy Hour, conducted by the Rev. James H. Miller, will follow Benediction. The meditation planned for this Friday evening is "Christ the Priest."

The Lenten Study Group will meet again on Wednesday morning, April 3, at 10 a.m. in the Parish Hall to continue its discussion of "The Ministry of St. Paul." A light breakfast will precede the discussion for those wishing to attend the 9:15 a.m. Mass.

The Rev. Harley G. Smith Jr., rector, is directing the study group. Somerset Maugham's "Rain," the Parents' Club play for this year, will be presented at the Pasadena Playhouse, Sunday, March 31, at 8 p.m. Tickets, at 2.50 each, are still available from any member of the Parents' Club.

All proceeds from the sale of tickets go to the school. The Adult Instruction class for Confirmation will continue to meet on Monday evenings, at 8 p.m. The instructions are being given by the Rev. Harley G. Smith Jr. Adults interested in the church, or those already confirmed, may attend.

The Professional Women of Ascension Church are meeting informally for a social evening at the home of Mrs. William de Prosse, 65 E. Laurel, March 28, at 8 p.m. Coffee and dessert will be served.

Mrs. Carl Eberle is co-hostess for the evening. Anyone wishing to attend should call EL 5-9107.

CARROT TOP

It's also an appropriate occasion to tell the youngsters, their parents and teachers too, the story of how the lead pencil became the world's most widely used writing instrument.

The pencil was probably the first instrument used by primitive artists. In its earliest form, it consisted simply of a lump of colored earth or chalk cut into a convenient form for holding in the hand. Much later, but in still ancient times, lead was used for marking purposes.

However, after the discovery of graphite, in the 1500's pencils were made without lead. The graphite found in Borrowdale, England, in 1554, was in a form so pure and solid, it could be used by itself for writing. The material was given the name of "plumbago," which means "that which acts like lead." Because the mark made by graphite was so black in comparison with the pale mark of lead, it was also called "black lead." That is why we still call the familiar, woodcased writing tool, the "lead pencil."

And you can't overlook the lowly pencil in one of the romantic incidents in American history.

March 3, marks the 32nd anniversary of the day an act of Congress declared "The Star Spangled Banner" our national anthem. A little known fact, is that Francis Scott Key wrote the first stanza of the poem in pencil aboard ship during the nighttime bombardment of Fort Mchenry. He completed it while rowed ashore the following morning.

Key and a man named J. S. Skinner, carrying a note from President Madison, went to the British fleet under a flag of truce to secure the release of Key's friend, a Dr. Beanes, who had been taken prisoner for interfering with British ground troops.

The fleet, however, was about to bombard the American fort and the British admiral detained Key and the presidential emissary on a supply ship. Key witnessed the attack. "The rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air," which "gave proof through the night that our flag was still there." Inspired by what he saw, he reached into his pocket, found a pencil and scribbled the first part of the poem on the back of an envelope.

I suppose the time will come when we will observe ballpoint pen week. But, for the life of me, I can't see how we can ever make a romantic story out of it. But who knows.

Ah, Spring ... at 3:32 on Wednesday, March 20, it became Spring ... Spring in California. The moment triggered many events, the sun moved into the northern hemisphere, Days became longer than nights. Young male fancies flamed lightly to thoughts of love; and poets of the square school started pushing their ball-point pacers.

Only the crabbed and the cynics will concentrate their energy on income taxes, sulphur and molasses, and weeds in the garden.

Being momentarily of that melancholy mood, may we offer as our Spring quote that anonymous season version of Scrooge's "Bah, Humbug."

Spring has come when you can put your foot on three daisies at once ... Summer will follow in just 92 days with its degrees of 100-105 ... the daisies will then be gone; also your desire to raise your foot ... but I would not trade one moment of it for all the tea in China ... would you?

In closing the column for week, let us remind you that Easter this year comes on the 14th day of April ... "Easter time is the time for eggs ... but if more women dressed to please men instead of trying to infuriate other women, they'd be a much smarter looking group." ... and that's from a man's point of view, and, of course, man must learn to succeed without losing his head, and he must learn how to fail without losing his faith. ... With the above remark, I most probably will lose my head, and unless the men folk come to my defense, it will be awfully hard to keep faith ... See you around, in the trees, I hope, I hope, I hope.

Rescue Takes Two Hours

by Bill Work

An 11 year old boy, stranded on a cliffside in dangerous Bailey Canyon, was rescued Saturday afternoon in a two hour operation by members of the Los Angeles County Sheriffs and the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team.

Paul Conho of 408 Ninita Parkway was exploring the canyon with Jerome and Bobbie Konigsberg of 480 Fairview Ave., and Mike Lopez of 435 Fairview, Sierra Madre, when he became stranded on a ledge. While Jerome stayed with the boy yelling for him to hang on, the other two raced down the canyon to the Lopez home for help. Rudolph Lopez called the Los Angeles County Sheriffs who called the Search and Rescue Team.

Arriving at the scene the men climbed the cliff and with nylon rope brought the boy to safety. Rudolph Lopez also assisted in the rescue.

The NEW Santa Fe Trail

A report on some of Santa Fe's newest milestones
BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE SANTA FE

In 1963, Santa Fe is investing some 90 million dollars on new equipment and improvements.

All this money is being used to keep the Santa Fe up-to-date in every way.

As a matter of fact, so many new and exciting things are happening on the Santa Fe today that some people are calling it "The New Santa Fe Trail."

Here are just a few highlights of the many improvements.

- 2548 new boxcars.
- 500 Mechanical Temperature Control cars.
- 550 covered hopper cars.
- 194 double and triple deck autoveyors.
- 181 flat cars.
- 58 new diesel locomotives.
- 24 hi-level passenger cars.
- 31 semi-lightweight mail and baggage cars.
- Increasing our microwave communication system to 2064 route miles.
- Experimenting with new and more efficient freight cars such as compartmentalized cars for automobile parts.
- Advancing our piggy-back operations to include joint rail-truck rates.

And we haven't been standing still up until now. We've invested over a billion dollars in progress since World War II. For example:

- The new cut-off line into Dallas.
- Major line relocations in Arizona.

It is our aim to keep the Santa Fe Trail always new.
